

Brule Trail Snowshoe

On November 26th, instead of skiing to Grey Owl's cabin (a wee bit slick out there), two human club members and a sweet husky decided to snowshoe the Brule Trail and connecting trail to the Grey Owl Trail! Brule was very packed and walkable, but the connecting trail was not used so much, making it a very good workout! Snowshoes are definitely needed on that section. After that, we enjoyed hot drinks and muffins at the Lakehouse outside by their fire.
